9:00 a.m.- 4:00 p.m.
Summit Bechtel Reserve, Glen Jean, WV (near Beckley)

Description: The West Virginia Oral Health Summit is “the premier meeting” for those interested in continuing education and networking opportunities within the discipline of Dental Public Health. The Summit brings together both public health professionals and professionals from the private sector under one roof to focus on joint strategies and initiatives aimed at improving oral health and overall health.

We are happy to announce keynote remarks for this year’s summit will feature:

Matthew Q. Christiansen, MD, MPH
Commissioner and State Health Officer
Bureau for Public Health
West Virginia Department of Health and

Johnny Johnson, DMD, MS
President of the American Fluoridation Society
Life Fellow, American Academy of Pediatric Dentistry
Diplomate, American Board of Pediatric Dentistry

Target Audience: Dentists, Dental Hygienists, Dental Sub-specialties, Public Health Workforce

Series Objectives:

Following this summit, participants should be able to:

1. Recognize the roles dental providers can fill to advance population-based health and improve access to care in WV.
2. Implement current best practice recommendations into clinical patient care.
3. Describe how patient behavior modifications can improve health outcomes.

A complete agenda will be sent prior to the conference for those who have registered.

Online registration will open June 2024. This year there will be a cost of $75.00 to cover meals, and processing of continuing education credits. Meals will include light breakfast and lunch.
