Overview:

Learn how to minimize risk and optimize learning for procedural training, with simulators and patients. Set up your trainees for success, reduce your own stress, and provide just in time feedback. Dr. Lisa Sinz, past president of the Society for Simulation in Healthcare, will be conducting the session.

Objectives – Following this course, participants should be able to:

- Describe strategies to minimize risk during procedural training with simulation.
- Apply methods to optimize learning outcomes when teaching procedural skills.
- Implement approaches to set trainees up for success in skill acquisition.
- Demonstrate techniques to reduce instructor stress while supervising procedural training.
- Provide effective, just-in-time feedback to support trainee performance and learning.
